

Mission

Our mission is to be a professional services provider and share the fiscal footprint through economic participation, by way of employment and procurement with communities, families and individuals.

It's about walking together, sharing our collective experience and culture.

Company Profile

At Jalun Indigenous Facilities Services, we understand that first impressions for your business matter and we specialise in providing a range of quality, cost effective cleaning and services solutions which help promote opportunity and inclusion for indigenous people.

In providing our services, Jalun provide a framework for government and corporate companies to work alongside Indigenous businesses while meeting their Indigenous Procurement Policy targets. We consciously invest our time into developing relationships with our clients to ensure we understand their needs and requirements, while giving our staff opportunities for long term employment and training.

People

Jalun Indigenous Facilities Services is proudly a Joint Venture partner with Springmount Services, a national Integrated Services Provider, and is managed by Gary Oliver, a Kuku Yalunji man from Far North Queensland. With over 17 years experience in executive roles, Gary manages and mentors our team to provide an exceptional level of service for all our clients.

Locations

Our Head Office is located in Springwood, and we have satellite branches across most areas of Australia, including in Darwin and Western Australia.
